STUARTHOLME GRADUATE VISION

A Stuartholme graduate is one who exhibits courage, compassion, and confidence to be an agent of transformation in their life and the lives of others. The values taught through a Sacred Heart education provide our graduates with the foundation to be collaborative, critical, and creative thinkers and leaders who demonstrate resilience in the face of challenges.

A Stuartholme graduate is one who exhibits courage, compassion, and confidence to be an agent of transformation in their life and the lives of others.

A SACRED HEART EDUCATION

At Stuartholme School, we are an integral part of the global Sacred Heart educational network. Together, we are united in our mission to shape the lives of students across the globe.

We strive to:

- carry forward the timeless vision of Saint Madeleine Sophie Barat and the Society
- enthusiastically embrace the five Goals of Sacred Heart education
- enact education as a dynamic process that beckons the discovery of truth and exploration of boundless possibilities
- educate the whole person, providing students with the foundation for a purposeful and meaningful life
- engage students to cultivate the attributes to unlock their full potential as catalysts for transformation
- foster an unwavering commitment to engage with the profound spirituality of the Sacred Heart
- nurture enduring partnerships with our students and their families to embody the core values of our community and a shared trust.

In our pursuit of a modern Catholic education, we explore our unique calling to reveal and spread the love of Christ in today's world.

In answering this call, we empower our young women to step up, to change the world as they depart from Stuartholme.

In the words of Mother Janet Erskine Stuart, "a Sacred Heart education is not meant to turn the children out small and finished but seriously begun on a wide basis."
