

Video transcript – This is Stuartholme School

When it comes to choosing a school for your daughter, what's important to you? Size, religion, academic scores, sports offered, pastoral care? How do you know you've made the right choice? At Stuartholme, we believe that school is the stepping stone to the rest of their life. It prepares them for what's to come. Stuartholme is the place where she can figure out who she is, what she's good at and how to be the best she can be. It prepares her to be one of tomorrow's great women.

This is Stuartholme School.

What do you think Stuartholme School does well?

I believe that Stuartholme, whilst it's a school, it provides a family in every sense of the word. It's really supportive and it gives you the opportunities to develop yourself as both a student and as a person.

Stuartholme really excels at making positive community, especially between the students and the staff. There's a relationship of equal respect and that's what we do well as a school.

The school is big enough to cater for everybody's interests but then again it's small enough to allow for everyone to be cared for as an individual.

How does the Stuartholme experience challenge you?

I believe that the teachers here really try and maximise your potential, so they challenge you to see the skills which you have, but also support you when you need it most.

What do you love most about Stuartholme School?

The thing I love most about the School is definitely the girls and the staff within the school, especially being a boarder, the friends that you make within the school are lifelong friends.

I think that we're a school that's very inclusive and we celebrate our culture and celebrate our differences and it's a really great place to work.

How did Stuartholme prepare you for life after school?

The confidence, the ability to go out and give anything a shot, the dedication and the application that you need to take in life to both your studies and sport and whatever it is you're doing has really, really stayed with me.
